FASY FOR THE RAILROADS

DESPITE the efforts of the county assessors of Oregon for several years to levy their just share of taxes upon the railroads, the Oregon ballot this year includes a measure which would relieve the railroads from paying all but about 10 per cent of their present taxes.

This measure is the "Full Rental Value Land Tax and Homesteaders' Loan Fund Amendment," the radical single tax measure which heads the initiative part of the ballot.

The railroads are now paying taxes on $102,000,000. The single tax bill provides for taxes to be levied upon land alone. As only $14,000,000 of the railroads' taxable property is represented by land, this measure, if ever made operative, would automatically take $88,000,000 from the list of taxable railroad property in Oregon.

The terminal yard improvements, station buildings and rolling stock of every class would simply go scot free when the assessor came around. Taxes would be levied on the rights-of-way, the most priceless possession of the railroads, on the same basis as the pasture land adjoining the tracks.

If the schools, colleges, highways and all the public works now supported by the state are to be maintained, then the farm land owner and small home owner, under this single tax scheme, would be forced to pay the share of the state taxes now paid by the railroads.

Altogether, $88,000,000 worth of property would be wiped off the tax rolls by this plan, for stocks and goods of big department stores and every form of property but land are held to be tax free by the single tax bill. This measure, the "Full Rental Value Land Tax and Homesteaders' Loan Fund Amendment," is the first initiative measure. Its numbers are 306 (yes) and 307 (no).

Republican Manager is Confident of Election

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Alvin T. Hart, western manager of the Republican campaign, expressed full confidence yesterday in the success of the Republican ticket. Mr. Hart has been campaigning with Charles E. Hughes in the middle west. Yesterday, the western Republican manager said:

"From the outset of the campaign I have believed that Charles E. Hughes would be elected President of the United States. During the first three months of the campaigning it was a belief. In the last three weeks my belief has emphasized itself into a conviction of confidence that is a synonym for certainty.

"There has been a gradual evolution of things and conditions throughout the months of the struggle. It took the people some time thoroughly to understand Mr. Hughes' views on all the many salient issues of the day. One by one in his speeches he has explained his views and his position. In all cases a little research has shown that his views today agree with his actions of yesterday.

"Within a comparatively short time there has been injected into the campaign a so-called labor issue. It is a specific thing and it has required specific treatment. Mr. Hughes has given it the treatment necessary. The people understand it better the so-called eight-hour matter, which is not an eight-hour matter at all, and they understand it thoroughly. Mr. Hughes' directness in moving this question and his skillful power of analysis and his ability to lay bare the facts has been in this thing in its true light to the country. The laboring men understand it today and their mind on the subject is not that which it was when the matter with its seemingly glittering promises first came before them.

"Labor has done the Republican party a service. It was a leader of labor, one trusted by his followers, who bore testimony to the record of Mr. Hughes as governor of New York when he did more in behalf of the workman than all the governors who had preceded him in office.

"Within the past three weeks I have made a trip through the middle west with the Republican candidate. Within the past week I have made part of another trip with him through the same section of the country. The receptions which have been accorded Governor Hughes, the manifest deep interest of the voters in his addresses to them, and the reports from students of political conditions who have traveled through the country in the wake of Mr. Hughes, combine to make me certain of his victory next month.

"The trip of the Republican candidate through Kentucky was one of triumph. He went to the mountain regions of the eastern part of the state where no candidate for the presidency ever before had appeared. The people came for miles on foot and on horseback to hear Mr. Hughes. The interest was intense, and I am told by those perfectly familiar with eastern Kentucky that conditions were never so favorable for success as at this time. The full Republican strength in eastern Kentucky will be shown at the polls and this will be a factor in making for success.

"There were those at the beginning of this campaign who seemed to think that it lacked something in enthusiasm. The eyes of these men have been opened. The campaign is one of an intensity of interest and activity. If the reunited Republican party, and it is a reunited party, will keep up for the next three weeks the pace of the past three weeks, Charles E. Hughes will be elected President of the United States by a majority of fully one hundred votes in the electoral college."

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE ARRANGES FOR MEETING OF GOOD AND POOR FARMERS WITH BETTER FARMERS

United Press Service

CORVALLIS, Oct. 25.—Farmers' and Homemakers' Week and Rural Life Conferences, January 1 to 6, is the annual occasion for Oregon's rural population that belays in more profitable farms, brighter homes, and more attractive social and business relations, to assemble at the State Agricultural College to measure practice by science, sift the false from the true, and bring the tested principles of the college into the industries, business, and society of rural life.

Opportunities to do this will be many. Good farmers, and had, will rub shoulders with better farmers. Housekeepers will unite with homemakers. Students may examine and test many types of farm machinery; judge standard breeds of all classes of farm livestock; study construction and operation of farm engines; see demonstrations of food preparation, garment making, dairy manufacture and stock feeding; study fruit, vegetable and flower growing and handling; investigate seed-crop production and testing; and attend conferences of leading state organizations. All this

Farmers' Week is held during the College Christmas vacation, making excellent quarters available for lodging for the short-circuit students. The faculty will be available for advisory work. IF KIDNEYS ACT
BAD TAKE SALTS

TAKE A GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR BACK HURTS OR BLADDER TROUBLES YOU

No man or woman who eats meat regular can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, in a few days your kidneys will not ache. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.
